RAQUE FORD

Raque Ford is a New York–based artist whose work incorporates Minimalism, abstraction, and narrative fiction. Her art has been featured at numerous galleries and institutions, including the Fall River Museum of Contemporary Art in Massachusetts as well as New York’s 321 Gallery, P.P.O.W, SculptureCenter, and Shoot the Lobster. Ford’s work will appear in this year’s edition of “Greater New York” at MoMA PS1, and her first solo exhibition with New York’s Greene Naftali will open in March 2022.

BRITTNI ANN HARVEY I met Brittni a few years ago in Miami and we’ve stayed in touch ever since. She’s an amazing artist based in Fall River, Massachusetts, who uses embroidery and weaving to create her paintings and sculptures. (She has also incorporated bronze into her repertoire to create these marvelous “robot dogs,” as she calls them.) I’m excited to see what she makes for her inaugural show this fall at Rosie Motley’s new gallery Someday, in New York’s TriBeCa.
